

A shared mission is the result of a good process, not the start of it.

People with ambitions make the flow.

Structure provides the bedding.

